EXTRA TO-DAY.

The wire broke between Winona and La Crosse yesterday, after the receipt of the telegrams which we publish this morning. The operators will start out early this morning to repair the break, and we hope to receive further dispatches between two and three this afternoon. We shall issue an extra immediately upon receipt of the telegrams.

ASSASSINATION OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

Oh! horror! horror! horror!

The saddest word that ever fell on the ears of living mortals sobbed through the wires yesterday and died broken-hearted in its flight. A huge eclipse has struck the nation down from its high noon of joy to a chaos of thick darkness. Weep, orphaned people of America, bereaved of your deliverer! Weep, Liberty, widowed in your bridal hour; for Abraham Lincoln, the wise, the good, the great of heart, the Savior of the Republic, the type and pillar of its cause, the man in whom was centered all the hopes and affections of the nation—is DEAD—yes, God help us, dead—stricken down—

O, horror! horror! horror! Tongue nor heart
Cannot conceive nor name thee.—

—stricken down by the bullet of a rebel assassin; stricken down last Friday night in the presence of his family in his private box at a theatre in full view of the people; stricken down by a cowardly blow administered stealthily from behind by a worthy instrument of that rebellion which took this method to crown the measure of its villainies. But the dark spirit that prompted this crime was not content with this illustrious victim. At the same hour his great mate and co-worker in the cause of freedom, William H. Seward, largest-minded of American statesmen—perished by the hands of the same, or a confederate assassin—who crept into the chamber of the dying statesman under a false pretence, and plunged his murderous stiletto into the crippled and helpless body of the sick and dying man—and thus hastened by a foul superfluity of murder the end of a glorious life, which a few days more of suffering would have terminated without the aid of crime. And the son—Frederick Seward—hastening to the bed-side of his murdered father, was met by the assassin at the door, and he too received wounds supposed to be mortal.

Nothing in the records of human history furnishes the parallel to this awful tragedy, or of the stupendous villainy which designed and executed it. It would almost seem as if an all-wise God had permitted this thing to be done in order that the end of the Rebellion might be signalized by an atrocity so startling and stupendous as to fix upon it the eternal horror of all mankind, and to brand the record of its infamy so deep into the heart of shuddering christendom that no sophistry of human history should dare to misinterpret God's judgment upon it, or to condone its measureless crimes. That the blow was struck by a rebel hand in fulfilment of a long meditated plan of vengeance, that it was carrying out at the miserable end of the rebellion, the plot of assassination which dogged the President's way to the Capital upon his first inauguration, it is hardly possible to doubt. The deed itself betrays the same paternity of wickedness which has for years wreaked its cruel malice upon thousands of obscurer victims, at Richmond, at Andersonville, at Salisbury, and it contains every characteristic circumstance of that carnival of crime in which the rebellion has reveled from the outset and which has marked the footsteps of slavery for a hundred years.

No one on the American continent not saturated with the foul pollution of an atmosphere of woman-whippers,—no one not educated in all the diabolical meanness, the cowardice, the wickedness, the brutality of that chivalrous school of which Jeff Davis stands at the head, could have compassed the conception of a crime like this. To murder a sick and helpless man upon his dying bed; to despatch a victim by a cowardly bullet aimed from behind, are not new rebel exploits. Thousands of men as innocent as Abraham Lincoln or William H. Seward have perished by the same hands by means as base as this. And the murder of the President is no worse in one sense than the equally cold-blooded assassination of thousands of Union prisoners in rebel hands, and of tens of thousands of Union men not prisoners; no worse, in one sense, than the frustrated attempt to burn the hotels of New York, with their living communities of women and children; though the illustrious position of the victims in this case throws out the awful wickedness of the deed into a boldness and distinctness of outline corresponding to the greatness of their station.

But by reason of that very station, and in proportion to its greatness, this assassination of the President and his Premier is worse than that of any private individual.

For Abraham Lincoln was slain by a rebel bullet, not because he was Abraham Lincoln, but because he was the constitutional President of these United States; because he was the elect of the American people to carry on the great work of vindicating the majesty of the Constitution, because, by virtue of his office, he was the impersonation of the principle of National Unity and National Freedom.

The blow which struck him down was a blow struck against the Government of the United States—a blow at American Liberty—a blow at the right of self-government—the concentrated malice of the rebellion, aimed at the central authority of the nation, in the sacred person of its Chief Executive.

Confusion now has made his master piece;
Most sacrilegious murder hath broke ope
The Lord's anointed temple, and stole thence
The life of the building.

The heads of great nations have been laid low before by the hands of assassins. But Cæsar and Hippias had trampled upon liberty. Abraham Lincoln has saved it. Tyrants like Appius have fallen victims, are now, to private vengeance for acts of lust or oppression. But Abraham Lincoln never wronged a human being, and lived and labored with a sublime unselfishness, only for the good of all his people.

* * * Besides, this Lincoln—
Hath borne his faculties so meek, hath been
So clear in his great office, that his virtues
Will plead like angels, trumpet-tongued against
The deep damnation of his taking off,
And pity, like a new born babe
Striding the blast, or heaven's cherubim, horsed
Upon the sightless couriers of the air,
Shall blow the horrid deed in every eye
That tears shall drown the wind.

But the crime takes a still more awful magnitude in its vast sweep of possible consequences. It would almost seem as if the blind Sampson of the Rebellion, mad with despair and revenge, in dragging down these two great pillars of the National cause, to drag the nation down in the same ruin with the traitor's confederacy.

The anticipated death of Seward would have been deeply mourned as an irreparable loss even without the fearful circumstances which precipitated his end. But the sudden and tragic disappearance of President Lincoln from the stage on which he has filled so sublime a part, seems almost to open a chasm of utter ruin beneath the feet of the nation. No man living was so completely identified with the great cause of the nation as he, he was its popular impersonation, its breathing type and official representative, and no man living can succeed to the deep hold of Abraham Lincoln upon the affections and confidence of the nation. The nation had accepted him as God's appointed agent for the suppression of the Great Rebellion, and having just accomplished this great work, he seemed to all human thinking, God's own chosen instrument for completing the grand and beneficent task of reconstruction. Indeed, he seemed far more fitted by character and temperament for the work of conciliation, than of war. No taint of partizan bitterness stained the cloudless magnanimity of his character. He was the soul of Christian charity. He was too merciful even to be just—too compassionate to evil-doers to always rigidly vindicate the sacred majesty of the law. And it is known that he had contemplated a policy towards the rebels from which nearly every feature of exemplary punishment and nearly all the pains and penalties of treason had been expunged—nothing less than a universal amnesty conditioned only upon a full restoration of the Union [illegible] policy of Emancipation.

And this, perhaps, is why God took him. He had accomplished his work. He had sat in the chair from which Jeff. Davis had fled at Richmond. He had witnessed the last and final victory of our arms, resulting in the surrender of the main army of the rebellion, and he was slain on the anniversary of the day when four years before, he had issued his first proclamation for 75,000 men "to repossess the forts and arsenals of the United States"—an anniversary just celebrated in Charleston by re-hoisting the flag of the Union over Fort Sumter, and in Washington by an order of the Secretary of War to cease all drafts and recruiting, and to effect a general reduction of our vast war establishment to a peace footing.

He had thus witnessed the substantial end of the rebellion—the good fight fought—the journey ended—the work done—his country saved—Liberty secured—and he died the actual President of the United States.

Like Moses he had led his weary people to the borders of the Promised Land, and from the top of Pisgah closed his dying eyes on the glad prospect of that Peace and Reunion which, for a wise purpose, he was not permitted to achieve.

And that great soul, on which was laid the heavy cross of all our national crime and sorrow, passed peacefully up to God, with all the weary burden of his country rolled away, bearing in his victor hands the broken chains of American Slavery, and the renovated charter of American Nationality as the trophies of a mission fulfilled.

He died a martyr to the same cause for which he lived—that his blood might consecrate the completed work of Human Freedom forever in the hearts of the People.

Abraham Lincoln is dead, but God still rules. And if we might dare, with reverence and fear, to trace His purpose in this awful event, we might say that the rebellion had been permitted to terminate in this gigantic illustration of the wickedness of its agents in order to overrule the vicious popular tendency to an excess of magnanimity in dealing with its leaders, in order to unite the loyal people in a unanimous and resistless impulse of righteous wrath against the betrayers and oppressors of the South.

Day before yesterday the people of these United States had, in an almost unanimous impulse of generosity, resolved to condone this infamous crime of treason. They were almost agreed to forgive Jeff. Davis, and there was a tacit understanding that the arch traitor and his associates should be let off easy, and a tacit connivance at their anticipated escape into foreign countries.

To-day the cry is universal, imperious, resistless, for justice—we will not say vengeance—upon the rebel leaders; to-day, under the mighty grief that swells the nation's heart, burns a fire of such tempestuous passion as has never shaken the bosoms of the American people before. Not even when the rebels fixed the deadly insult of their battle fire upon the national flag at Fort Sumter, four years ago, was the popular heart so deeply stirred as now by the cowardly blow which on Monday night slew the elect of the People and the Lord's anointed. That fatal blow has awaked the slumbering wrath of the people, and has given that wrath an instrument who will not be slow to execute their will.

The pistol shot that slew Abraham Lincoln struck the death signal of the leading traitors of the South. It turned the milk of Northern kindness into gall, and its honey into wormwood; and it made Andy Johnson——President of the United States!

It was a woful day for the rebel leaders, when they passed the executive power of this nation from the lenient hands of kind-hearted Abraham Lincoln, to that stern and unrelenting foe of traitors—Andy Johnson.

Elsewhere we republish a speech recently delivered by Mr. Johnson at Washington, in which he sets forth his policy. His motto is "Death to Traitors!"—and the grief-stricken nation sorrowfully hails its new chief with his own war-cry of "Death to Traitors"—and may God Almighty have mercy on their souls.

MURDER NEAR HENDERSON.

A report reaches us that a Norwegian boy was murdered by his father, near Henderson, last Thursday. The head of the boy had been found, severed from the body. Search was instituted both for the body and murderer. There was great excitement among the people in that vicinity.

Our hearts are too full of grief to furnish formal biographical obituaries of the two great and good men whose untimely and tragic end we record this morning. Their glorious lives are written in the hearts and memories of the people, and in the history of their country. At another time we may have the heart to gather up the records of their past, and strew flowers upon their graves. Now we can give nothing but tears.——God Save The Republic!

SPEECH OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.

Delivered at Washington on Receipt of the News of the Fall of Richmond, on Monday Last.

What the Rebels Have got Now.

Death too Easy a Punishment for Traitors.

The Hon. Andrew Johnson, Vice President of the United States, was discovered in the crowd, and, upon being vociferously called for, was introduced by Mr. Wetmore, military agent of the State of Ohio.

The Vice President expressed his thanks for the fervid reputation accorded to him by the vast crowd, and said: "I will make one or two remarks, for I feel that no one would be justified in attempting to make an address on such an occasion when the excitement is justly at so great a height.

"We are now, my friends, winding up a rebellion, a great effort that has been made by bad men to overthrow the Government of the United States, a government founded upon free principles, and cemented by the best blood of the Revolution. [Cheers.] You must indulge me in making one single remark in connection with myself. At the time the traitors in the Senate of the United States plotted against the Government and entered into a conspiracy more foul, more execrable, and more odious than that of Catiline against the Romans, I happened to be a member of that body, and, as to loyalty, stood solitary and alone among the Senators of the Southern States. I was then and there called upon to know what I would do with such traitors, and I want to repeat my reply here. I said, if we had an Andrew Jackson he would hang them as high as Haman. [Cheers.] But as he is no more, and sleeps in his grave in his own beloved State, where traitors and treason have even insulted his tomb and the very earth that covers his remains, humble as I am, WHEN YOU ASK ME WHAT I WOULD DO, MY REPLY IS, I WOULD ARREST THEM; I WOULD TRY THEM; I WOULD CONVICT THEM, AND I WOULD HANG THEM. [Prolonged cheers.] As humble as I am and have been I have pursued but one, undeviating course. All that I have—life, limb, and property—have been put at the disposal of the country in this struggle. I have been in camp, I have been in the field, I have been everywhere where this great rebellion was; I have pursued it until I believe I can now see its termination. Since the world began, there never has been a rebellion of such gigantic proportions, so infamous in character, so diabolical in motive, so entirely disregardful of the laws of civilized war. It has introduced the most savage mode of warfare ever practiced upon the earth. I will repeat here a remark, for which I have been in no small degree censured. What is it—allow me to ask, that has sustained the nation in this great struggle? The cry has been, you know that our Government was not strong enough for a time of rebellion; that in such a time she would have to contend against internal weakness as well as internal foes. We have now given the world evidence that such is not the fact; and when the rebellion shall have been crushed out, and the nation shall once again have settled down in peace, our Government will rest upon a more enduring basis than ever before. [Cheers.] But, my friends, in what has the great strength of this Government consisted? Has it been in one man power? Has it been in some autocrat, or in some one man who held absolute government? No! I thank God I have it in my power to proclaim the great truth that this Government has derived its strength from the American people. They have issued the edict; they have exercised the power that has resulted in the overthrow of the rebellion, and there is not another Government upon the face of the earth that could have withstood the shock. [Cheers.] We can now congratulate ourselves that we possess the strongest, the freest and the best Government that the world ever saw. [Great applause.] Thank God that we have lived through this trial, and that, looking in your intelligent faces here to-day, I can announce to you the great fact that Petersburg, the outpost of the strong citadel has been occupied by our brave and gallant officers, and our untiring and invincible soldiers. [Great cheering.] And, not content with that, they have captured the citadel itself, the stronghold of traitors. Richmond is ours, and is now occupied by the forces of the United States! [Tremendous cheers.] Her gates have been entered, and the glorious stars and stripes, the emblem of Union, of power, and of supremacy, now float over the enemy's capitol! [Great cheering.] In the language of another, let that old flag rise higher and higher, until it meets the sun in his course and let the parting day linger to play upon its ample folds. [Cheers.] It is the flag of our country; it is your flag, it is my flag, and it bids defiance to all the nations of the earth, and to the united talents of all the powers combined. [Renewed cheering.] It is not my intention to make any imprudent remarks or allusions, but the hour will come when those nations that exhibited toward us such insolence and improper interference in the midst of our adversity, and, as they supposed, of our weakness, will learn that this is a government of the people possessing power enough to make itself felt and respected. [Cheers.] In the midst of our rejoicing, we must not forget to drop a tear for those gallant fellows who have shed their blood that their Government might triumph. We cannot forget them when we view the many bloody battle-fields of the war, the now made graves, our maimed friends and relatives who have lost their limbs, as it were, on the enemy's soil, and others who have been consigned to their long, narrow homes with [illegible] winding sheet save their blankets saturated with their blood. [Hear, hear.] One more word and I have done. It is this: I AM IN FAVOR OF LENIENCY; BUT IN MY OPINION EVIL-DOERS SHOULD BE PUNISHED. [Cries of 'That's so.'] TREASON IS THE HIGHEST CRIME KNOWN IN THE CATALOGUE OF CRIMES; and FOR HIM THAT IS GUILTY OF IT—FOR HIM THAT IS WILLING TO LIFT HIS IMPIOUS HAND AGAINST THE AUTHORITY OF THE NATION—I WOULD SAY, DEATH IS TOO EASY A PUNISHMENT! [Loud cheers.] My notion is that treason must be made odious—that traitors must be punished and impoverished, their social power broken, though they must be made to feel the penalty of their crimes. You, my friends, have traitors in your very midst, and treason needs rebuke and punishment here as well as elsewhere. It is not the men in the field who are the greatest traitors. It is the men who have encouraged them to imperil their lives, while they themselves have remained at home expending their means and exerting all their power to overthrow the Government. Hence I say this—'THE HALTER TO INTELLIGENT, INFLUENTIAL TRAITORS.' [Loud cheers.] But to the honest boy, the deluded man, who has been deceived into the rebel ranks, I would extend leniency. I would say, return to your allegiance, renew your support to the Government, and become a good citizen; BUT THE LEADERS I WOULD HANG. [Great cheering.] I hold, too, that wealthy traitors should be made to remunerate those men who have suffered as a consequence of their crimes—Union men who have lost their property, who have been driven from their homes, beggars and wanderers among strangers. It is well to talk about these things here to-day, in addressing the well-informed persons who compose this audience. You can, to a very great extent, aid in moulding public opinion, and in giving it a proper direction. Let us commence the work. We have put down these traitors in arms; LET US PUT THEM DOWN IN LAW, IN PUBLIC JUDGMENT, AND IN [illegible] [Great cheers.] [illegible] three cheers for the capture of Richmond.'

Three times three cheers were given with immense enthusiasm, when three cheers were proposed for the Vice President, and given with hearty good will.

Vice President Johnson then suggested three cheers for "our brave officers and men who have achieved these great results," and they were given with great unction.

A Lecture.

ANOKA, April 14.

Editors St. Paul Press.

Although the lecture season usually closes earlier than this, yet the citizens of Anoka were favored, on Thursday evening, with a most admirable address upon the "Patriotism of Woman," by Mrs. Mary J. Colburn, the accomplished and gifted authoress of the prize essay recently published by order of the Legislature, entitled "Minnesota as a Home for Emigrants." Mrs. C. has none of that disagreeable boldness which too frequently characterizes female lecturers, but on the contrary, her modest and unassuming manners and appearance show her, at first sight, to be a lady of refinement. Her voice is clear and distinct, her delivery graceful and animated, and at times eloquent. Her lecture evinced a thorough acquaintance, not only with the history of our own country, but of other nations and other times; and she showed that her sex, by their patriotism have exerted a greater influence for good, over the destinies of nations than is generally accorded to them, and although she did not profess to be an advocate of the extreme doctrine of "Woman's Rights," yet her remarks in relation to some of the prevalent ideas respecting woman's sphere, and in relation to the injustice of some of our laws to her sex were pungent and spicy. Altogether, the lecture was a splendid success, and it was listened to by a large, intelligent and appreciating audience.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN ASSASSINATED.

SECRETARY SEWARD MURDERED IN HIS BED.

DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT YESTERDAY MORNING.

Frederick Seward Dangerously Wounded.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Assassination of President Lincoln and Secretary Seward.

WAR DEP'T, WASHINGTON, April 15 1:30 A. M.

Maj Gen. Dix

This evening about 9:30 P. M., at Ford's Theatre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Rogers and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President.

The assassin then leaped upon the stage brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape in the rear of the theatre. The pistol ball entered back of the President's head, and penetrated nearly through the head.

The wound is mortal. The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted, and is now about dying.

About the same hour an assassin, [illegible] Mr. Seward's apartments, and under pretence of having a prescription, was shown to the Secretary's sick chamber. The assassin immediately rushed to the bed and inflicted two or three stabs in the throat and two in the face.

It is hoped the wounds may not be mortal. My apprehensions are that they will prove fatal. The nurse alarmed Mr. Fred Seward who was in an adjoining room, and he hastened to the door of his father's room, where he met an assassin who inflicted upon him one or more dangerous wounds. The recovery of Fred Seward is doubtful. It is not probable that the President will live through the night.

Gen. Grant and wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening, but he started to Burlington at 6 o'clock this evening. At a cabinet meeting at which Gen. Grant was present, the subject of the state of the country and prospect of a speedy peace was discussed. The President was very cheerful, and hopeful, and spoke very kindly of Gen. Lee and others of the Confederacy.

CHICAGO, April 15.

Dispatches just received from Washington say that Secretary Seward died at 9:30 this morning.

FAST HORSES.—About one year since, Ten Broeck, the celebrated owner of racing horses, offered through Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, $20,000 reward to any person who would deliver inside of the Federal lines his four horses that were in the Southern Confederacy. Lieut. A. Ware, jr., A. A. G., 4th division, 17th corps, says the Boston Post, writes to a gentleman of Boston, from Goldsboro, with regard to these horses, as follows: "You will remember that Ten Broeck offered, a year ago, through the Spirit of the Times, $20,000, or $5,000 each for his four horses that were within the Confederate lines. Well, we have found and taken the horses. Their names were 'Congaree,' 'Kemble,' 'Lady Woodland,' and 'Albino.' Gen. Logan captured two, Lieut. Col. Hickenlopa captured one, and a Surgeon another. I think the horses will not prove of much value to Ten Broeck."

—A good story is in circulation that before the commencement of the recent military movement which resulted in the capture of Richmond, Mr. Lincoln, then at City Point, sent by the hands of "a reliable contraband," as a present to Jeff. Davis, the identical long cloak and Scotch cap in which, in 1861, Mr. Lincoln is said to have travelled from Harrisburg to Washington. The present has evidently been appreciated.

Message of President Lincoln in Paris.

A Paris correspondent says:

The Message of President Lincoln, on entering upon his new term of office, has been received here with unmitigated satisfaction. Its moderation of tone, its wise reticence with respect to the war, [illegible] of all boasting, either as regards the glorious past or the hopeful future, its truthfulness, simplicity and reverential character—all these qualities have secured to the address of Mr. Lincoln the reception and respectful attention it so well deserves. Even its shortness has proved a welcome qualification to European readers, and has, doubtless, procured for it a more general perusal than falls to the lot of many a more self-important and long-winded State document. But above all, the concluding words of peace and good will to all nations, have been hailed with relief and pleasure by the French public, both political and commercial. We have been pestered of late with so many bugbears, and with stories of what was to happen when the war was over and the American Union once more restored to its full strength, that the people have at last begun really to think that the first intimation they might receive of the accomplishment of those great events would be the appearance of an American fleet of ironsides in the port of Havre, or a fleet of gunboats sailing up the Seine to take Paris! The President's language has taught France that the American people and government can bring their own difficulties to a satisfactory termination without, on that account, either desiring to interfere with the affairs of other nations, or even to remember too minutely, in the day of their power, acts of semi-hostility committed against them in the hour of their fancied weakness. This is the right position to assume, the noblest attitude and language to hold; and I can see already, by the effect produced around me, that, like everything true and straightforward, it is also the best policy in the end. By adopting such, America will rise at once in esteem and respect, as she rises in restored power and influence in the world.

GEN. McCLELLAN.—A London journal says: "The Americans resident in Rome have given a banquet on a scale of great magnificence to Gen. McClellan, and it is not a little remarkable that at this dinner citizens of both the north and south commingled. The Americans thus show their good sense in not carrying their quarrels into foreign countries.

Mrs. Dugan's Letter from New York, received to-day, states that she did not buy her stock of Millinery and Dry Goods
till after the fall of Richmond and surrender of Lee and she has purchased Foreign Goods at from 25 to 40 per cent below what she could have done four days previous. The panic was awful, rebel sympathizers groaned and trembled to the bottom of their pockets; Union men sighed a little—as more who love must do—but soon recovered and were seen rejoicing and crying Glory to God! Our Country Saved! Rebellion Gone!
We have several lots of those New Goods opened at our new Store on Third Street, St. Paul.
Come and see those Pattern Bonnets. They are cosey little things. They are called Ladies' Hair Ornaments, [illegible]. We think them well named. Also a lot of Crystal Trimmings, Gold Set Buttons, Dress Trimmings, and Ornaments, all new. Dry Goods, Cloaks and Cloakings, at the lowest possible prices. Remember the place—next below Little's Book Store, Catholic Block, St. Paul, Minnesota.

CHANGE OF BASE!
Since the destruction by fire of the Pioneer Foundry in St. Paul, in July last, we have erected a shop at Minneapolis, in order to avail ourselves of the facilities of water power in our business. We expect to get in operation about the 15th of April, when we shall be prepared to do any kind of mill machinery or other castings that may be called for, having practical iron and brass founders and machinists of 25 years experience (12 years in this state), we think we can give any person good satisfaction, both in quality and price of work in our line. We shall be able to furnish Ordinary Castings, 6 cents per lb. Brass Castings, 75 cents per lb. Babbit Metal, from 65 to 80 per lb. Lathe work and finishing, [illegible]. Pattern Making, $4 per day. Having also an experienced Pattern Maker, we can make any pattern that may be wanted. Upon the opening of navigation we intend to cast every day, Sundays excepted, so that we shall be able to furnish castings without the usual delay. Old iron, brass, copper, lead, &c., wanted.

LETTER FROM MOBILE.

[Th]e Siege of Spanish Fort

Casualties in the Minnes[ota Reg]iments.

Correspondence of the St. Paul Press.
GEN. HOSPITAL, 1st DIV. 16th A. C.
NEAR SPANISH FORT,
March 28, 1865.

The following is a list of casualties in the 5th Minnesota:

Patrick Edwards, Sergeant Co. A, left breast and upper arm; severe flesh wound—not dangerous.

Austin W. Fansworth, private Co. H right leg—flesh wound.

Geo. Ascher, private Co. A, foot cut with an ax while at work on breastworks in front.

Wm. Watts, private Co. K, right hand—lost a finger.

Ellery Arnold, private Co. A, ankle spent cannon shot—slight.

John Hahn, private Co. E, left arm hit with a piece of shell—slight.

NINTH MINNESOTA.

G. McClure, private Co. G, wounded while skirmishing on the 26th—back—severe, but not dangerous.

John Kost, private Co G, left hand, palm—severe.

Henry Beaulieu, Sergeant Co. G, perineum lacerated with shell—severe.

George F. Bullard, Co. G, left arm amputated near the shoulder; wounded on the 28th

Henry Folsom, 1st Lieut. Co. C, was[illegible]

TENTH MINNESOTA.

John Lee, Corporal Co. H, right thigh, flesh wound—severe.

Patrick Condon, private Co. H, left knee, flesh wound—not dangerous

There has been only one casualty in any Minnesota regiments reported here to-day.

Yours in haste,
[illegible] H. N. HERRICK,
Chaplain 5th Minn.

DIV. HOSP. 1st DIV. 16th A. C. NEAR
SPANISH FORT, March 29, 1865.

Our lines are drawn closely around the fort, so it is completely invested on the land side Our men are well protected by earthworks thrown up on the night of the 27th. They are so near that the rebel pickets are all driven in. Some siege guns were put in position last night The gunboats are said to have run past the obstructions, and it is hoped they will soon be, if they are not already completely hemmed in. We have opened a base on the bay four miles from here, where a part of our wounded are to be taken this morning. We have about sixty wounded in this hospital. The 3d division has about the same, I think. The 2d has not been engaged except as skirmishers while approaching here. I think the casualties are few in it

The 6th Minnesota is all right; none were injured up to last night. They report having killed a rebel captain while skirmishing on the 26th We have a rebel orderly sergeant here wounded through the lungs.

The enemy's loss has not been heavy as yet, though we do not know what damage our shells have done inside their work. The artillery is beginning to play this morning. As soon as Gen. Smith can get his headquarters out of range, we expect to hear from the newly planted siege guns.

Prisoners say this is the key to Mobile It will be defended persistently, but you may expect to hear good news from here soon.

Yours, &c, H. N. H.

—The New York Herald publishes a list of the general officers surrendered by Lee, including the General-in-Chief, three Lieutenant-Generals, seventeen Major-Generals, sixty-one Brigadier-Generals Among them are Anderson, Echols and Ewell, already prisoners, Finnegan, Heth, Bushrod Johnson, Kershaw, Longstreet, Mahone, McCausland, Mosby, Ould (the Exchange Commissioner) Pemberton, Picket, Rosser, Sorrell, and Henry A. Wise. The number of men surrendered by Lee is from 20,000 to 22,000.

—Vice-Admiral David G. Farragut U. S. Navy, arrived in Baltimore at six o'clock on the 11th inst., from Fortress Monroe, and was received at the wharf by a large detachment of military, ordered out by Geo. W. W. Morris, the Mayor and Committe, and many citizens The procession was then formed and the Admiral was escorted to the Eutaw House—receiving on his way their enthusiastic greetings from the citizens. The City Council gave him a public dinner. He left next day for New York.

LOGS COMI[NG] IN.

The River Block[ed]—20,000,000 Feet of Lumber—Danger of Property.

From the Taylor Falls Reporter, April 8.

The log excitement has prevailed to its fullest extent this week. Last Monday night, the rapids above this place being clear of ice, the logs commenced running, to such an extent as to form a jam on beneath the bridge, which continued to augment until noon of the next day, when the mass reached the rear of the St. Croix Grist Mill. The hope that, as the river rose, the logs would go out themselves, being harbored by many, no attempt to clear a passage of them was made until Wednesday morning, when matters appeared to be growing worse, the rise in the water only tending to pack the logs closer together, a small force of teams and men were engaged to open the channel. In the afternoon a large crowd of men, women and children began to gather, until the bridge and the banks of the river were lined with a dense human mass, all eager to see the "jam break."

They were soon gratified, as after a few hours labor the logs started, and went rushing and crashing through the narrows, at the head of the dalles, shouts [rent] the air and everybody's countenance wore a pleased look. But their joy was of short duration; for in less than fifteen minutes from the time the jam started, the river was blocked up below, and not one half of the logs had run through. The crowd soon dispersed, and night approaching, nothing more could be done until the next day Thursday arrived, and with it snow, rain, and wind, so that the work was delayed In the meantime logs continued to run in to the rear jam, and at the time of writing it had reached the Falls, extending over a mile in length. Not only had the jam lengthened, but the still rising river had piled the logs up at the gorge under the bridge, until they have reached the abutments of this structure, and fears are entertained lest it should be swept away. The danger is so apparent, that Mr. Town, the toll keeper immediately vacated the toll house, and sought a more secure place The pressure of the logs against the piers, built by Mr. Bullard, above the bridge, was so great that the piers were crowded [on] shore. The frame work of his grist mill is also threatened.

Men and teams are now at work on the head of the jam, but make very slow progress; at the present rate it will take weeks to reach the bridge.

The spectacle now presented is grand It is estimated that there are from fifteen to twenty million feet of lumber, piled in every imaginable way, in some places towering up twenty (or thirty feet, and reaching to the bottom of the river

A TIMELY REMINISCENCE.

The Reception of the News of the Surrender of Cornwallis in Philadelphia, Oct. 24, 1781

From "Battles of America," by Robt Tomes M. D.

Lieutenant Colonel Tilgham was sent express to Philadelphia, with Washington's dispatches to Congress, and, as he [illegible] of the great event on entered Philadelphia. He made his way directly to the house of President McKean, and delivered his dispatches. Soon afterward the whole city was in commotion. The watchmen everywhere, in proclaiming the hour, added in loud voices. "And Cornwallis is taken!" That annunciation, ringing out upon the frosty night air, aroused thousands from their beds. Lights were soon seen moving in every house, and before daylight the streets were thronged with people Anxiously they had waited the hoped-for intelligence from Yorktown, and now their joy was complete. The old State House bell rang out its notes of gladness, and the first blush of the morning was greeted with the roar of cannon At an early hour Congress assembled, and the members of that grave body were highly excited when Secretary Thompson read Washington's dispatches. During the reading they could scarcely repress huzzas, and at the conclusion they resolved to go in procession, at two o'clock that day, "and return thanks to Almighty God for crowning the allied armies of the United States and France with success." The thanks of Congress were presented to Washington, Rochambeau, and De Grasse, and the officers and men under their respective commands They also resolved that two stands of colors taken from Cornwallis should be presented to Washington in the name of the United States; that two pieces of the field ordnance captured at York should be presented to each of the French commanders, Rochambeau and De Grasse, that a horse should be presented to Lieutenant Colonel Tilghman by the Board of War, in the name of the United States, and that a marble column should be erected at Yorktown in commemoration of the surrender. Congress likewise appointed the 30th of December as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer throughout the Union.

The President's Visit to Richmond.

From the Richmond Whig.

The President, accompanied by Admiral Porter, with an escort of army and navy officers, was landed at Rocketts about 3 P. M., from a gunboat, and was enthusiastically cheered by the populace and Federal soldiers all the way up Main street to the market, and up Franklin street to Governor street The President was on foot and walked rapidly, towering above the crowd, flanked on his right by Admiral Porter and on his left by his son Thaddeus

The President was dressed in a long black overcoat, high silk hat, and black pants, giving to his form a very commanding appearance. The President and escort moved up Governor to Twelfth street, out Twelfth to Marshall street and the mansion of Jeff. Davis, late President of the Confederate States, and now the headquarters of Gen. Weitzel The crowd surrounded the mansion, and sent up cheer after cheer as the President entered the doorway and seated himself in the reception room and reception chair of Jeff Davis. Three cheers for Admiral Porter were then given

A brilliant collection of Union officers assembled in the hall were then presented to the President, and afterward the citizens generally were allowed the opportunity of shaking the President of "our whole Union" by the hand. Subsequently the President and suite, with a cavalry escort of colored troops, appeared on the square, drawn in a carriage and four, which was driven around the walks, the President inspecting the condition of the troops and exciting an unwonted interest in everything.

Everywhere the reception was the same, the bands playing and the people besieging the ground, each anxious for a closer inspection of the distinguished occupants of the carriage.

While these ceremonies were going on a salute of guns was fired from the steamers at Rocketts.

The President is still in Richmond, we believe, but we are not informed what are to be his future movements.

THE ADVANCE ON MOBILE.

Progress of the Siege of Spanish Fort

The Six Minnesota Regiments in the Fight.

IN FRONT OF SPANISH FORT,
OPPOSITE MOBILE, March 27, 1865.

FIRST DAY'S MARCH—SKIRMISHING.

Correspondence of N. Y. Herald.

My last dispatch from this army was dated from Danby's Mills, on Fish river Alabama. On Saturday last, at six o'clock A. M., the corps of Gens. Granger and Smith commenced marching through the pine forests of Alabama, in the direction of Blakeley. The entire force of the enemy in our front during the first day's march did not exceed two hundred and fifty men. These delayed our advance by sharp skirmishing, and though the rebels were compelled to fall back, they did so very slowly, and not until four of their number were killed, ten wounded and one captured, when they disappeared and did not attempt to interrupt our advance during the remainder of the day's march. Two of our skirmishers were wounded.

Col. Marshall, of the Seventh Minnesota, commanding the Third brigade of the [First] division in the Sixteenth army corps, while riding at the head of his column, was shot in the neck by a sharpshooter on his left flank, the ball grazing the spine The wound, though serious, is not a dangerous one

THE SECOND DAY'S MARCH—THE ENEMY RETIRE FROM OUR FRONT.

The Thirteenth corps yesterday moved on a road to the left, leading to Spanish Fort—a strong earthwork on Mobile bay commanding Minetta bay. As they advanced a rebel force of about five hundred cavalry skirmished for several miles, but were driven within the fortifications surrounding Spanish Fort. A deserter states that the rebels lost severely in this skirmish. Last night the corps of Granger encamped on the extreme left of Spanish Fort.

The sixteenth corps continued on the road to Blakely and about noon marched through "Deer Park," one of the most beautiful and picturesque sections of country in the South

The Ninth Minnesota were deployed as skirmishers, and engaged the enemy more or less during the entire march. The rebels seemed determined to resist the advance as much as possible, but our overwhelming force compelled them to fall back until they reached Sibley's Mills, when they attempted to burn the bridge over Bayou Minet. This was prevented by a volley and sharp skirmish, in which the enemy lost one killed and ten wounded Our loss was one man killed and two wounded. As it was supposed that we were moving on Blakely, the rebels fled to that town for the purpose of warning the garrison of our approach; but they were mistaken, for though we arrived at Sibley's Mills about noon, and were not more than five miles distant from that town, we did not proceed further in that direction.

THE ENEMY ATTEMPT TO SURPRISE OUR PICKETS—IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

MARCH 28, 1865—Early yesterday morning the enemy in front of Spanish Fort attempted to surprise the pickets of the Thirteenth corps. After a few moments' brisk firing the rebels were re[pulsed]. We lost four men wounded. [Im]portant dispatches were captured by Col Bertram's brigade. Some of the dispatches purported to give an account of the force of his column, General Steele's, from Pensacola, the day that each left, the number of our guns, their calibre, &c

THE ADVANCE ON SPANISH FORT.

Yesterday morning the advance on Spanish Fort commenced. The Third division of the Sixteenth army corps, General Carr commanding, followed by the First division, under General McArthur, were in motion as early as 6 o'clock A. M., and in a few moments were marching in the direction of the fort, which was about three miles distant.

As I have already informed your readers, the Thirteenth corps had arrived in front of Spanish Fort the night previous, and while the Sixteenth were advancing on the right, General Bertram's brigade of the Thirteenth corps was forming on the extreme left, followed by General Benton's and General Veatch's divisions The First division of the Sixteenth army corps, General McArthur, joined the division of General Veatch, forming the centre and the right centre, while the division of General Carr occupied the extreme right, the remaining division of the Sixteenth corps (General Garrard's) being about two miles in the rear, guarding the trains.

INVESTMENT OF SPANISH FORT BY LAND

While the regiments were forming in line of battle along the entire front the artillery was preparing to open on the enemy's works

Skirmishing was very lively all day. The rain fell in torrents, but there was no abatement to either the musketry or artillery firing

The rebels were driven slowly back, and took refuge beyond their rifle pits Earthworks were hastily thrown up by our men, and in a few hours Spanish Fort was completely invested on the land side. When the sun went down the artillery ceased on each side, though musketry firing was kept up for two hours after

Our loss in the 13th and 16th corps was about one hundred and eighty in killed and wounded.

Our forces held their ground. Rifle pits were thrown up in the night, and Tuesday morning dawned upon the improved position of the advance, while several hundred batteries were in position within four hundred yards of the Fort.

The country in front of Spanish Fort is very hilly. [At] the distance of half a mile the fort cannot be distinguished, though built upon a high bluff. This is owing to the denseness of the trees and shrubbery in front and on each side.

FIVE MONITORS AND THE OCTORARA CROSS BLAKELY RIVER BAR—A REBEL FLEET IN SIGHT.

This afternoon Major Putnam, of Gen Canby's staff, arrived from Stark's Landing, and reported five of our Monitors crossing Blakely river bar, and a sixth was crossing as he was leaving.

Captain Eaton, chief signal officer (also on Gen. Canby's staff,) left Stark's Landing about an hour later. He reports that five Monitors and the Octorara are across the bar and lying at anchor a short distance beyond A fleet of rebel gunboats, he also reports, is in sight. A naval engagement is soon expected to take place

CLOSING IN ON OLD SPANISH FORT.

March 29—There was a very lively time along the whole line to-day. Our skirmishers and working parties had advanced to within eighty yards of the fort, while three or four batteries were stationed within from three to four hundred yards.

OUR FORCES CLOSING ON THE REBEL WORKS.

Our forces are gradually approaching Spanish Fort. They are now intrenched within a distance of seventy yards of the enemy's rifle pits. Our loss in killed and wounded will average about one hundred and fifty to-day. The loss in officers has been very small in proportion. I have not heard of one being killed, and but some eight or ten wounded.

[illegible] ATTACK—THE REBELS REPULSED.

MARCH 30, 1865.—About two o'clock this morning three companies of the 7th Vermont, one company from the Ninety-first Illinois and one company from the Fifteenth Indiana were sent out for the purpose of relieving the advance line of skirmishers in front of General Veatch's division. In the darkness they lost their way, and came upon the enemy's pickets, who fired a volley. This was promptly answered by our men, when the enemy commenced a brisk musketry fire along the whole line, and, believing probably that our forces were making an assault, rushed forth from the rifle pits and drove in our working parties and skirmishers, and in some cases advanced to our very rifle pits.

In front of Gen Veatch's division our men clubbed their muskets over the rifle pits to drive the enemy back, and the whole division advancing in line of battle at that moment soon drove the enemy into his works. The rebels were repulsed along our entire line, and must have suffered heavily

The enemy then commenced firing artillery from the fort, and our batteries replied. The duel was kept up until nearly daylight, when the firing gradually subsided.

THE ENEMY'S GUNBOATS ON OUR RIGHT

On the extreme right the enemy's gunboats and transports are within musket range of our troops. We have built an earthwork within nine hundred and seventy-five yards of the fort for the purpose of mounting siege guns. The guns have arrived, and in the morning it is expected that they will open on the enemy's gunboats and transports As in the case of the pontoons and the three hundred rebels that are cut off, we have been unable up to this time to interfere with the movements of the enemy's vessels on account of the swamps.

The officers wounded whose names I could learn are Captain Ryan, of the Forty-seventh Illinois, arm amputated; Captain W. M. Bullock, Company F One Hundred and Eighth Illinois, leg badly fractured above the knee while advancing with his company on the skirmish line; Henry Fulsom, Seventh Minnesota, slightly, Captain E. F. Stone, Company B, Twentieth Wisconsin, seriously.

THE HEAVIEST FIRING DURING THE SIEGE.

MARCH 31, 1865.—The firing on Spanish Fort was distinctly heard at Dauphin Island to-day. It commenced early in the morning and continued until sundown It was by far the heaviest and most rapid of the seige. There is no doubt that our Monitors, mortars and siege guns are in position and have opened upon Spanish Fort. No additional particulars were received of the result up to the time of the steamer's departure from New Orleans.

GEN. STEELE.

Another letter of the same date gives an account of Gen. Steele's Arrival from Pensacola, on the 25th ult, at Blakely having been six days on the way from Pensacola, and having whipped a rebel cavalry force on the route Blakely is about six miles north of Spanish Fort

Peace Prospects.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The National Intelligencer of to-day says: "We learn from a reliable source that Judge Campbell, of Alabama, formerly of the United States Supreme Court, and one of the Hampton Roads commissioners of the rebel government, called upon the President at Richmond, and urged him to issue [illegible] at this time a most salutary effect. The President was, however, not then prepared for this step, and it was reasonable to suppose he would decline action upon this subject while Grant was pressing upon Lee's retreating forces." That the President will now adopt this course, the Intelligencer has additional reasons for believing.

A BIG JAM OF LOGS.—We learn that the greatest and most surprising jam of logs ever known in this section, is at Taylor's Falls. During the mild weather, while the logs were running rapidly, some of them caught on sunken rocks, just below the bridge, and it is estimated that thirty million feet of logs are now lodged there between the obstruction and the dam—within the distance of half a mile None but men familiar with the vast amount of labor and great danger attending this branch of business, can appreciate the herculean task of "breaking" such a jam

A FEW REASONS WHY THE

AMERICAN WATCH

IS THE BEST.

It is made on the best principle, while the foreign watch is generally made upon no principle at all. The foreign watch is mostly made by women and boys, BY HAND. While their labor is cheap their work is dear at any price. Such watches are made without plan, and sold without guarantee. They are irregular in construction, and quite as irregular in movement. They are designed only to sell, and the buyer is the party thoroughly sold. Those who have kept 'surreys,' 'lepines,' and 'Swiss levers' in professed repair for a few years will appreciate the truth of our statement.

THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH.

Instead of being made of several hundred little pieces, screwed together, the body of the American watch is formed of SOLID PLATES. No jar interferes with the harmony of its working, and no sudden shock can throw its machinery out of gear. In riding, or any business pursuit, it is all held together as firmly as a single piece of metal. It is just what all machinery should be—

1st. ACCURATE. 2d. SIMPLE. 3d. STRONG. 4th ECONOMICAL.

We not only secure CHEAPNESS by our system, but QUALITY. We do not pretend that our watch can be bought for less money than the foreign make-believes, but that for its real value it is sold for one half the price.

OUR SOLDIER'S WATCH (named Wm. Ellery), is what its name indicates—solid, substantial, and always reliable—an article to stand any amount of marching, riding or fighting.

OUR NEXT HIGHER QUALITY of WATCH (named P. S. Bartlett), is similar in size and general appearance, but has more jewels, and a more elaborate finish.

OUR LADIES' WATCH, recently brought out, is put up in a great variety of patterns, many of them of rare beauty and workmanship, is quite small, but warranted to KEEP TIME.

OUR YOUNG GENTLEMAN'S WATCH is neat, not large, and just the thing for the pocket of Young America.

THE PROOF of the merits of our watch may be found in the fact that we now employ over seven hundred workmen in our factories, and that we are still unable to supply the constantly increasing demand.

OUR THREE-QUARTER PLATE WATCH is thinner and lighter than the others we have described. Its fine chronometer balance is delicately adjusted to correct the variation caused by changes of temperature. These watches are the fruits of the latest experiment in chronometry, and are made by our best workmen, in a separate department of our factory. For the final time-keeping qualities they challenge comparison with the best work of the most famous and English and Swiss makers

A NOTE OF WARNING.

Let the poets say what they will, Spring is a treacherous season. It "chills the bones." Or its damps and fogs, its east winds and its capricious temperature, come the burning heats and the intermittent fever. Miasma floats out of the earth in clouds under the vernal beams. At no period of the year does the system require strengthening more than at this. To fall sick now is to be incapacitated from struggling with the heats of summer. Who desires to meet the blazing weather of June, July and August, with an organization enfeebled by spring disease? Now is the time to reinforce, nature and render the frame and the constitution summer proof.

As soon as the frost gets out of the earth the stomach seems to lose its tone and the appetite to fade. An indescribable lassitude overcomes the body and mental energies, and slight exertions often bring on palpitation and nervous tremors. The [sym]ptoms are the mute demands of the physical [illegible] for aid. The influence of the [seaso]n is depressing even upon the vigorous, while to the naturally feeble it is still more disastrous Truly death reaps a [great] harvest in March, April and May. During those months the dyspeptic, the bilious and the hypochondriacal always suffer most severely. Against all the ailments produced by miasma, sudden alternations of temperature, exposure or close confinement in doors, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is the most potent of all invigorant safeguards. Be in time! Be in time! Sold everywhere.

A Single Box of Brandreth's Pills contains more vegetable extractive matter than twenty boxes of any Pills in the world besides fifty five hundred physicians use them in their practice to the exclusion of other purgatives. The first letter of their value is yet scarcely appreciated. When they are better known sudden death and continued sickness will be of the past Let those who know them speak right out in their favor. It is a duty which will save life.

Our race are subject to a redundancy of bilious bile at this season, and it is as dangerous as it is prevalent, but Brandreth's Pills afford an invaluable and efficient protection. By their occasional use we prevent the collection of those impurities, which, when in sufficient quantities, cause so much danger to the body's health. They soon cure liver complaint, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, pain in the head, heart burn, pain in the breast bone, sudden faintness and costiveness. Sold by all respectable dealers in medicines.

A great many side bets are being made at the Plantation Bitters, by a score or two of dis[as]ter[e]d fri[ends who] have endeavored to imitate or [counterfeit] [illegible] It's all of no use. The people [illegible] using them and popularity every [day and] that's what's the matter" They are a [handso]me sized bottle, and made just as they were at first, and will continue to be, or we shall stop making them.

The Plantation Bitters purify, strengthen and invigorate.

They create a healthy appetite.

They are an antidote to change of water and diet.

They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.

They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.

They prevent miasmatic and [intermittent] fevers.

They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.

They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.

They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.

They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. The Recipe and full Circular are around each bottle. Clergymen, Merchants, and persons whose sedentary habits induce weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c. will find an immediate and permanent relief in these Bitters. But above all, they are recommended to weak and delicate females and mothers.

They are sold by all respectable merchants See that each bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork, and steel-plate side label.

Beware of refilled bottles. See that the stamp has not been tampered with. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the Gallon is a swindler and impostor, and should be immediately reported to us,

U.S. 7-30 LOAN

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the Seven-Thirty Loan.

These Notes are issued under date of June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent.
GOLD-BEARING BONDS.

These bonds are now worth a premium which increases the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, and its exemption from State and Municipal taxation adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property the interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents	"	"	"	$100	"
Ten	"	"	"	$500	"
20	"	"	"	$1,000	"
$1	"	"	"	$5,000	"

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions, and the notes forwarded at once. The interest to 15th June next will be paid in advance. This is

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

Now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

Less than $300,000,000 of the Loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will be subscribed for within the next four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks and private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

PROSPECTUS.

The St. Paul Press,

DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY,

—IS—

THE ONLY UNION JOURNAL

Published at the Capital of the State, entering upon its fifth volume with an established reputation as by far the

BEST NEWSPAPER

Published west of Chicago. It is a sufficient proof of the unrivalled and rapidly increasing popularity of the Press that in the short space of four years it has attained nearly

TREBLE THE CIRCULATION

Of any other Newspaper published in the State—a fact of GREAT IMPORTANCE TO ADVERTISERS. This marvellous success is owing not only to the fact that its political sentiments are in harmony with those of the great majority of the people, but to its great superiority over all its rivals in every department of newspaper intelligence, being

ALWAYS AHEAD IN NEWS,

And foremost in the discussion of all subjects of public interest, and in advocacy of all measures for the material development of the State.

It has a far more extensive and intelligent War and State Correspondence than any Minnesota Journal, and better Local and Commercial Reporters—and several excellent Poetical and Literary contributors. It is, in short,

The best General Newspaper,
The best State Newspaper,
The best Local Newspaper,
The best Political Journal,
The best Statistical Journal,
The best Emigration Journal,
The best Commercial Journal,
The best Literary Journal,
The best Family Journal,

Published in the State. And furthermore the Press is much THE LARGEST DAILY in Minnesota, and publishes daily about

One-third more Reading Matter than any other. It is the

OFFICIAL PAPER
OF THE
STATE and UNITED STATES

and the only paper in the State which publishes the Laws of Congress and the Legislature.

As a Political Journal, the past course of the Press is a sufficient index to its future. Devoutly believing that Slavery is everywhere and in its very nature hostile to Free Government; that the Rebellion is its natural and necessary offspring, and that the extinction of this anti-Democratic and anti-National institution is an indispensable condition of solid Peace or lasting Union, the Press heartily approves and earnestly advocates all constitutional War or Civil measures looking to its entire extirpation. The triumphant issue of the recent Presidential election establishes the ascendency of these principles in the future political life of the Republic. As the recognized exponent of the ideas and policies which are to control our State and National Administrations, the Press may justly anticipate a larger increase of circulation among the 25,000 Union men of Minnesota who have recently endorsed its principles by their votes. We are about entering, too, upon a period of singular interest, when a first-rate Newspaper, conducted upon sound political maxims, will be more than ever a necessity to every loyal household. The rebellion which began with Mr. Lincoln's election in 1860, seems destined to expire with his re-election in 1864, and his first term will be hardly more memorable for the magnitude of the military problems encountered and solved, in subduing the rebellion, than will his second for the grand political problems involved in the Pacification and Reconstruction of the insurgent States. It is important that the journal which records the events of the next four years should be a safe guide of political action.

THE TRI-WEEKLY PRESS

Contains nearly all the matter published in our Daily, and is a magnificent sheet, containing usually from twenty-four to thirty columns of reading matter.

THE WEEKLY PRESS

Is confessedly the Best Family Journal published in the State—containing all the news of the week, and the choicest Literary Selections, Tales, Poetry, Political Intelligence, Local News, Markets, &c.

The great advance in the cost of composition paper, and all the materials employed in the manufacture of a newspaper, compelled a slight advance in our subscription price in August last, and though the cost of publication has greatly increased since then, we still adhere to the terms then announced, which will be found annexed.

CHEROKEE INJECTION,

Compounded from Roots, Barks and Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic cures all diseases of the Urinary Organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gonorrhea, Gleet and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus, (or Whites in females,) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

☞ It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times per day.

☞ It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gleet, Gonorrhea, Fluor Albus, or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

☞ Price, Cherokee Remedy, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

☞ Price, Cherokee Injection, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

Sent by Express to any address on receipt of price.

☞ The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection and Cherokee Cure, are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these; those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their disease and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Post office, County, State and name of writer, plain, and enclose postage stamp for reply.

We send our 32 page Pamphlet free to any address. Address all letters for Pamphlet or advice to the proprietors,

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS

Observe carefully the directions around each bottle.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS

Are no "got up compound" to impose upon public credulity but the prescription of Dr John L. Lyon, now practicing physician in New Haven, Ct., at 105 Chapel street, who guarantees their efficacy, will answer all correspondence concerning them, and all other specialities, and give particular directions of all private diseases and female complaints, personally or by mail.

Dr. John L. Lyon's discovery, known as LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS for females, stand before the public to-day, superior as a diuretic, unsurpassed as a specific, for the cure of all harrassing female complaints, compounded from a lifetime's result of his extensive experience, and by him guaranteed to remove all irregularities or suppressed nature, and warranted safe at all times, except when in certain situations, particularly explained in the directions around each bottle, which all should carefully read and understand.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS cost but a trifle, and their worth, in comparison to their cost, is like gold to sand.

Doctor Lyon asks you who are suffering from irregularities will you not make one more trial of his renowned Periodical Drops, which he warrants will satisfy you in every instance.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS are sold by Druggists everywhere, in city, village and country, at $1 per bottle, or all orders by mail will be promptly attended to by DR. JOHN L. LYON, New Haven, Ct.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.
SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.
SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.

A healthy tonic, gentle stimulant and unequalled morning appetiser. Prepared in ripe old Bourbon. Being now used in the hospitals of all other Bitters in more than fifty United States Army Hospitals, and millions of private families, and is the only popular medicine which has been especially EXEMPTED FROM STAMP TAX by the United States government, on the ground of its having been adopted as a standard REMEDY by the medical profession.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.

☞ They are made of ingredients well known and approved by the medical profession, as having powerful tonic properties, are both palatable and pleasant, with sufficient strengthening properties to correct the bilious derangement of the system, and act like a charm when taken according to direction, as a remedy for the following diseases:—Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Affections, Loss of Appetite, Lowness of Spirit, Sallow Complexion.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.

FOR

Headache, Costiveness, and kindred diseases, arising from a disordered condition of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels. Let every one try these agreeable Bitters; once tried and used, they will recommend them with confidence to all others who are in need of a wholesome, agreeable and cordial tonic. The rapidly increasing demand for these Bitters has induced me to give them publicity, so that thousands who have not used them, may try them and be convinced of their efficacy.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.

☞ Ladies, who have tried and found most other "Stomach Bitters" too bitter, unpalatable and too highly medicated for their delicate taste, please give these a trial, and you will not be without them. They will give tone to the stomach, and strength to the whole system. ☞ If your druggist or tradesman has not got these Bitters, have him send for them. ☞ Remember the name, and take no other.

SWAIN'S BOURBON BITTERS.

☞ The composition of Dr. Swain's Bitters, having been made public through the columns of Medical Journals, and having been adopted as a standard remedy by the Medical Profession, are by the decision of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, EXEMPT FROM STAMP DUTY.

THE CITY.

THE ASSASSINATION.

The Sad News in the City.

We have frequently had occasion during the progress of the war, to note the feelings and conduct of the people upon the receipt of joyous intelligence of victories. With light heart we have approached the task and cheerily completed it.

But to-day, it is a sad work and no words can describe the pall which fell upon our citizens when our extra, yesterday forenoon, announced the terrible tidings that President Lincoln and Secretary Seward had been assassinated. The first dispatch announced that the President was in a dying condition, and people hoped against hope that it might not be as bad as reported. Several hours elapsed before the fatal words, "Abraham Lincoln died this morning at twenty minutes past seven o'clock," were flashed over the wires, and then, strong men wept.

It was a stunning blow, a shock which cannot be described. "Oh the terrible news," was the cry which passed from mouth to mouth. Men had no heart in business; the damnable assassination was the only subject thought or talked of. Vengeance was invoked upon the leaders of the rebellion who are responsible for the act, and hearts which but a few hours before were overflowing with forgiveness were changed to adamant. Flags were displayed at half mast, and stores were draped in mourning. The large flag in front of Gen. Sibley's headquarters was trimmed with crape, and many outward signs of mourning and respect were visible. Probably through an oversight of the Mayor's, the bells were not tolled, an act which it would be eminently proper to have performed to-day. But deeper than all was the heart-felt grief which pervaded every breast, and was visible in every countenance. Men walked the street with bowed heads as if in deep meditation. It was a sober day and the sadness was so oppressive as to be almost felt in the air.

We have spoken of the grief as universal, but our cheeks tingle with shame to record that there were a few—and we hope very few—who have sunk so low in the scale of humanity as to rejoice over the fearful calamity.

Mr. Philip de Rochburne, a character who needs no introduction to our citizens, expressed his gladness in terms too filthy for print. His being a cripple alone saved him from a severe castigation. As it was, an excited crowd gathered about him and he was compelled to take refuge in Mason's Hat Store to save himself from violence. Here he again commenced to give vent to his feelings when a customer compelled him to stop and the proprietor warned him that he would be turned upon the street again unless he maintained silence. Later in the day a soldier compelled De Rochburne to eat his words of the morning.

Peter Hahn, a porter who was employed at Mr. Marvin's crockery store, expressed his delight. Mr. Marvin summarily discharged him and ejected him from his store.

Mr. W. J. Croswell, a young man from the East, who came to the State for his health, said he was glad of it and he hoped Andy Johnson would be shot too. It is urged in Mr. Croswell's favor that he is a mere boy and that his expression was thoughtless. We believe, however it is not denied but that he has reached years which usually bring discretion and "the more's the pity" if the rule fails in his case. The climate which most propagates consumption is the one he should seek rather than that of Minnesota.

We have mentioned these persons only, because we heard of no other authenticated instances where similar outrages were committed. It is natural that a resentful feeling of violence should arise upon such an occasion which all concerned would afterwards regret, and that deeply. If there is any virtue left in public scorn and contempt, those who rejoiced yesterday will be more effectually reached by that than they would be by force, and to that scorn and contempt we leave them.

Some of the churches were being draped in mourning last evening, and we understand that some of the business blocks will be draped to-day. When Gen. Harrison, and also when General Taylor died, houses were trimmed with crape, and mourning was quite generally worn for thirty days—the ladies wearing it upon their bonnets and gentlemen upon their coats. This event which plunges the nation into greater grief than those sad occurrences could because the circumstances are so different, will probably call forth similar emblems.

We can no better express the popular feeling than by quoting the words of a celebrated poet, which, changed only in a word, are singularly appropriate:

What! soared the old eagle to die at the sun
Lies he stiff with spread wings at the goal he had won!
Are there spirits more blest than the "Planet of Even,"
Who mount to their zenith, then melt into Heaven—
No waning of fire, no quenching of ray,
But rising, still rising, when passing away?
Farewell, gallant eagle! thou'rt buried in light!
God-speed into Heaven, lost star of our night!

* * * * * *

The arrow to earth, and the foam to the shore—
Death finds them when swiftness and sparkle are o'er—
But now Lincoln's death fills the climax of story—
He went with his old stride—from glory to glory!

Follow now, as ye list! The first mourner to day
Is the nation—whose father is taken away!
Wife, children and neighbor may moan at his knell—
He was "lover and friend" to his country, as well!
For the stars on our banner, grown suddenly dim,
Let us weep in our darkness—but weep not for him!
Not for him—who departing, leaves millions in tears!
Not for him—who has died full of honor and years!
Not for him—who ascended Fame's ladder so high,
From the round at the top he has stepp'd to the sky!

Ball Postponed.—Several weeks ago, the Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company, fixed upon to-morrow evening for a ball to aid them in fitting up their house. In view of the terrible calamity which has befallen the country, a special meeting of the company was held last evening and the following resolutions adopted:

Resolved, That in view of the great and unprecedented calamity that has befallen the nation, in the brutal murder of the President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, and of the Hon. Wm. H. Seward, Secretary of State, We the members of the Pioneer H. & L. Co., in considering this a time of mourning instead of festivity, hereby postpone the intended ball until further notice.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Foreman with full power to take such action as may seem proper to them in observance of any funeral ceremonies that may be ordered or recommended, and that the flag be kept at half mast until further orders from the said committee.

This action is commendable in the highest degree, and we predict that the company will not be losers by their action.

Mr. Selby's Funeral.—A large concourse assembled at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the funeral of the late J. W. Selby Esq. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Mattocks who, after reading the scriptures reviewed the life of the deceased. At the close of the service while the spectators were passing in front of the coffin, Mr. Mattocks read the dispatches announcing the death of President Lincoln and Secretary Seward and the mournful solemnity of the occasion was painfully increased.

Lost.—A countryman from over the river lost his pocket book between the bridge and Dayton's bluff yesterday. It contained a hundred dollars in greenbacks. The loser is a poor man and the finder should return the money to the Chief of Police.

Counterfeit Scrip.—Several residents of Minneapolis were arrested a day or two since, charged with passing counterfeit postage currency of the denomination of fifty cents. All were discharged except Henry Van Valkenburg. He gave bonds to appear for examination before Commissioner Cardozo to-morrow.

Discharged.—Twenty five or thirty drafted men reported at Capt. Keith's office yesterday, but were discharged according to the orders received from the Secretary of war.

Larceny.—A vagabond boy was arraigned at the Police Court yesterday on the charge of stealing a watch, but the matter was settled and the prosecution withdrawn.

The police force has been filled by the appointment of Wm. Schofield and Henry Gallin.

RIVER NEWS.

A Boat Through the Lake.

Several hundred people gathered on the levee last evening to witness the arrival of the first through boat of the season. They were repaid for their presence as the Burlington, from St Louis, touched the landing at a quarter past six. Since May 27th, 1861 we have not been visited by a large boat until yesterday. The Northern Line was the last to leave and the first to return, the Canada from St. Louis being the last of the large side wheelers which touched at our levee last year. It was amusing to see the people look as though they had never seen a "big boat" before, and no sooner was the staging thrown out than the crowd rushed on board, pell mell.

The Burlington was built at Cincinnati last year, but came out too late to visit St. Paul and this is consequently her first trip here. She is officered as follows:

Captain, John B Rhodes; 1st Clerk, Geo W. Jenks; 2d Clerk, W R Smith; Pilots, Jeff. Brown and Capt. Wm White; 1st Engineer, John Garret; 2d Engineer, H Smith; 1st Mate, Chas. Wescott; 2d Mate, Andwin Murryday.

The Burlington is elegantly finished and is not excelled on the Western waters. She is 211 feet long and 35 feet beam. Her engines are 20 inch cylinder, 7 feet stroke and 10 feet bucket. She can carry 600 tons of freight and draws light 29 inches.

She left St. Louis on the 8th with 576 tons of freight, but was delayed thirty-six hours by the severe storm. She left Reed's Landing between five and six o'clock yesterday morning. As far as Lake City she ran near the shore; all the remainder of the way she ploughed through the heavy ice, finding it so strong that once with 200 tons of freight on board her bow would run up on it before it would give way. From Point-no-Point up there is no ice. The Burlington leaves early this morning for St. Louis.

The following is the record of arrivals of first boats for many years past:

1844	April 6	1855	April 17
1845	" 6	1856	" 18
1846	March 31	1857	May 1

In the Lake.—The Lansing, of the Northwestern Line, started into the Lake at ten o'clock yesterday morning. At last accounts she was wedged in the ice four miles below Lake City.

Passengers.—Fifty passengers were waiting at Read's Landing when the Burlington left, but they did not venture to take passage for fear she would not go through. The Burlington, however, brought a few passengers up.

The Mollie Mohler came down from St Peter yesterday. She reports a better stage of water in the Minnesota. There being thirty-two inches on the rapids. The Minnesota is still rising all the way up to Mankato.

George W. Jenks, the gentlemanly Clerk of the Burlington, has our thanks for a manifest.

For New Ulm.—The steamer Albany, Capt. Aaron Russell, will leave for New Ulm at 2 P. M. to-morrow (Monday). She will go clear through.

Minnehaha, Summer and Winter, at Martin's Art Gallery. The only place in the city, where a full and complete collection of Photographs of Minnesota scenery, Indians, &c., can be had, of all sizes, is at Martin's Art Gallery, No. 264 Third street.

Fine card Photographs of our late President at Martin's. it

Jo. Hall has a fine lot of show beef, porter house steaks, &c., and will continue to have, every day this week. 1-t

There will be an appropriate funeral service for our great National calamity at the First Presbyterian Church on Third street, this evening.

The American Continent.—A new Topographical and Railroad map of the United States, British Possessions, Mexico, West Indies and Central America. Drawn by Col Ross, from the recent government surveys. This beautiful map is mounted, well varnished, printed on fine, highly calendered map paper, and finished in the best style; and since it is the latest, is superior to any heretofore published. It is destined to supercede all others. Those emigrating to Colorado, Idaho, and the new Territories, will find it indispensable. The public and the press unite in pronouncing it a superior work of art. This map is sold by Mr. S. J. Howes, for the small sum of two dollars. As he will remain in the place but a short time, and he can only call upon a few of the citizens of St Paul, those who desire to examine this map, can address him through the Post Office. 21

U. S. 7-30's.—This investment is still the rage. Sales at the First National Bank for three days of this week, $35,000. The present loan is taken up, but the Bank has them for sale, and also $50,000 gold-bearing 5-20's.

The First National Bank of Saint Paul furnishes through tickets from Liverpool and Queenstown to St Paul, by Packet, Ship and Steamer, at lowest rates. Also Drafts on England, Ireland, Germany, Switzerland, Sweden and Norway, and all other European States.
mt1 20 1mo March 18, 1865.

Tickets for the East.—The ticket office connected with the La Crosse line of steamers is now open and through tickets can be procured to all points in the East. Office on the levee at the foot of Jackson Street.

—M Forcade, of the Revue des Deux Mondes, well known as one of the ablest political writers of France, says in a recent article: "The English appear to have ceased to be actors in the world's political movements. They concentrate themselves, and seem to be preparing for the part of simple spectators. Just at this time they have eyes for nothing but what is passing in the United States. They are awaiting with a visible anxiety the end of the great civil war, of which they have in general so ill-judged the nature and tendencies. English public opinion has committed, during four years, great errors and great injustices in the judgments they have formed upon the refusal of the American Union to recognize in the insurgents the right to dissolve their ties with the General Government. The apprehensions betrayed by the English press, now that the triumph of the North appears assured, are in some sort an explanation for the fault committed by public opinion in England. We hope that the English will be let off with their present punishment of terrors and anxieties, and that the Americans will not seek to vex a foreign Government, which is sufficiently punished by their success, with hostile demonstrations."

Privates, Chas Cook, Co. B, —Moore, company K; Thomas Parsley, company B, James Mead, company C, Frank Fallon, company I, John Aldrn, company A; George Buttholomew, company H; Robert Gatchell, company K, 5th Minnesota; John Sullivan, Dennis Shea, company K, 10th Minnesota.

The foregoing list of deaths I can vouch for as being correct, as I had charge of the graveyard, and made the death report each day. It is needless to say anything in regard to the manner in which they were buried, as the public are aware of the fact, viz this, that they were striped of all their clothing, and buried without coffins, or anything but two feet of Georgia soil for a covering; such is the manner of treatment our brave soldiers receive when in the hands of the rebels, after long suffering, and at last dying the death of all deaths, starvation. Twelve thousand eight hundred and eighty-four were registered in the Death Register, on the 24th of March, 1865. It is safe to say that over one half of all prisoners that ever entered Andersonville are numbered with those that are no more.

I make this brief report as there are many families of our State who have near and dear friends, which they look for daily, or for their names to be among those that are paroled.

You will please publish this, and other papers throughout the State please copy, and oblige a friend and soldier.

ALONZO AVERY,
1st Serg't Com. C, 9th Minn. Vol.

Mr. L. Matthews, of Company E, 9th Minnesota, sends us a list of those who died belonging to his regiment. It is the same as those given above, with the exception of Wm. Ullman, Co. C; J. Bader, Co. K, and —— Lamar, Co. I.

Mr. Matthews says:

These are only the names of those that died at Andersonville. We lost a great many at Savannah and Lawton, but as I haven't the full list, I cannot tell how many there were.

There are but thirteen of us here, and as all of us have written home I will not give the names.

Two hundred and seventy of us went into the Andersonville stockade. Some few went to Florence, South Carolina, but the most of them there died. I doubt if there be fifty to return home. There was but one left at Andersonville.

L. MATTHEWS,
Co. E, 9th Minnesota.

NEW MUSIC BOOKS.
THE MUSICAL CURRICULUM!
BY GEO. F. ROOT

An instruction book for the piano forte in a new plan, embracing not only a complete course of study, with fresh and attractive material but instruction, but also voice culture, with songs and solfeggios for different stages of progress in art or accompanying, harmony, &c.; the whole arranged in progressive manner as to furnish a complete and unusually pleasing course of study and practice, which aims at the symmetrical development of all the musical powers of the pupil. It is a royal quarto of 240 pages, and contains fifty per cent more matter than the larger pianoforte instruction books common to this country.

PRICE $4.50.

Sample copies sent postpaid on receipt of price.
Published by ROOT & CADY.

THE SILVER LUTE.
Enlarged Edition.
BY GEORGE F. ROOT.

This popular singing book for Juvenile classes, schools and academies, has just been revised and enlarged by the addition of 24 pages of popular music, including "Just Before the Battle, Mother," "Tramp, tramp," "Johnny Schmoker," "Song of a Thousand Years," "The Soldier's Home," "On, On, On, the Boys came marching," "Tenting on the old camp ground," and several others. The popularity of this book is attested by the fact that it has already reached an issue of 100,000 copies.

Price, 50 cents. $5 per Dozen.

THE BUGLE CALL.
BY GEO. F. ROOT.

This book contains about fifty of the most popular patriotic glees and four part songs, and is just the thing for loyal people, whether in camp or at the fireside. No book of the kind furnishes anything like the quality and quantity here found for the same amount of money. Price, 35 cents; $3.60 per dozen.
